

Printfolio

Quick Start Guide

Printfolio is your start point in creation and printing: business cards, flyers, newsletters, brochures, catalogs, mailing labels, CD/DVD cases and covers.

How Does it Work?

Printfolio behaves as a document wizard that opens one of the specialized applications depending on the project you selected.

Business Card Composer is used for business cards.

Disc Cover is used for designs connected with CD/DVD media.

Mail Factory is used for labels, envelopes and postcards.

Swift Publisher is used for flyer, brochure and other types of designs.

Design selection has two steps.

First, you select the kind of the project in Printfolio.

Second, the corresponding application opens its designs collection (Assistant) to show all possible design templates.

Apart from the main applications stands Image Tricks. Its main goal is to enrich your designs with unique graphics. Image Tricks provides image filters and generators. (It requires Mac OS 10.4 or higher).

Basic Steps

1. Select a project category in the left box.

The corresponding type of projects will be shown in the gallery box.

2. Select the project you want to design and click the Choose button (or double click on the icon).

Printfolio will bring up one of the programs showing the template collection (Assistant).

3. Go through all steps of the Assistant. The selected design will get into the editing window and you will be able to modify it.

4. When your design is finished, you can print it or save as a graphic file to order printing in a print shop.

Registration

It is recommended to register Printfolio when you open it at the first time.

For this, select the Printfolio -> License menu item. The "License" window will open. Enter owner's name and the license code into the corresponding boxes.

This will register all the software from the Printfolio package.

Entering the code manually, be attentive. Do not use the 'O' character, type only 0 (zero) digit in the license code. There is also no small letter 'l', but only 1 (one) digit in the license code.

Unregistered copies of the software adds the "trial version" line onto your design at printing.
